How to Create Your Inventory

It's a good idea to keep a detailed record of your major possessions, in case you ever have to piece together what's missing in the event of theft or serious damage. But it can be a daunting task, so we've created this worksheet to help you get started and guide you through the process.

When you're finished, consider going over the completed inventory with your local independent agent.

Your agent will be able to help you make sure you have the coverage you need. For items such as artwork, fine china, collectibles, coins, stamps, and jewelry, talk to your local independent agent about additional coverage that may benefit you in case of a loss.

Items

Record the items on each list—and anything else you'd want to replace if it was stolen or damaged. Use the blank rows at the bottom of each page (or the extra pages in the back) to enter specific items not listed here.

Examples: Dutch oven, silver candlesticks, hair dryer, etc.

Enter your items only once, wherever it makes the most sense to you.

Quantity

Record how many pieces you have of each item. In the case of collections, you can leave this column blank and provide details in the Notes column. You can also choose to enter multiples of an item (e.g., lamps) separately in the rows at the bottom of each page.

Estimated Value

Enter the estimated value of a single item or the estimated total value of a group of items, such as art supplies.

Notes

Record any pertinent information in this column, such as description, purchase details, condition, etc.

Examples:

Midcentury bookcase, consignment (2004), OK condition
Complete place settings for 8, white porcelain, with additional bowls

Organization

This worksheet is organized by room. Some items show up all over your home, so we've created separate pages for electronics, home systems, and utility items, rather than list these in specific rooms. Blank lines on each page allow you to organize your inventory in the way that works best for you.

Keep the Task Manageable

- Get started as soon as you can.
- Work room by room.
- Take photos or video as you go.
- Update your home inventory at least once a year, especially around the holidays.

Date Completed:

This is not a legal document, nor is it intended to replace forms or processes we may use when adjusting a claim. Property coverage may vary by policy. Some items of personal property are not eligible for replacement cost coverage. Please refer to your policy or contact your agent for specific coverage details.

Home Systems & Electronics

These items can show up in multiple rooms, so we've simplified things by putting them all on one page. Use the blank rows at the bottom to list items that aren't included in these categories (e.g., chargers, drones, etc.).
